

13th ANNUAL PSYCHOLOGY DAY

at the UNITED NATIONS

#PsychDayUN2020

2020 TITLE	 UN75 The Multilateralism We Want: Psychological Contributions to Building Bridges Among and Within Nations
DATE TIME PLACE	 Wednesday, 27 May 2020 Time: 11am – 1pm EDT Free Online Event
Registration	 Please register for the event at: https://attendee.gotowebinar.com/register/6161065434192697099 After registering, you will receive a confirmation email containing information about joining the webinar*
THEME Program schedule and speaker bios will be available online at UNPsychologyday.com	 Currently there is a global increase in nationalist movements, anti-immigrant sentiments, xenophobia and intolerance in many parts of the world. These trends are impacting attitudes towards the United Nations and the concept of Multilateralism upon which it is based. This year, 2020, is the 75th anniversary of the United Nations and is an important opportunity for governments to reaffirm their commitment to the UN Charter. Psychology at the UN can contribute to understanding the challenges to Multilateralism such as xenophobia and anti-immigrant sentiments, as well as facilitate international cooperation. The Psychology Day Program will consist of a panel of experts from cross-cultural, social and health psychology. They will discuss psychological research on challenges as well as facilitating international collaboration to tackle public health crises such as the global pandemic of COVID-19.   Speakers will include:  <ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Dr Fathali Moghaddam Professor of Psychology Georgetown University • Dr Michelle Gelfand Professor of Psychology University of Maryland • Dr. Sarah Lyons-Padilla UX Researcher, Tech Industry • Dr Susan Michie Professor of Health Psychology University College of London