Major Advancement in Psychological Science

The Major Advancement in Psychological Science Prize was established in 2006 by the International Union of Psychological Science (IUPsyS), formerly denoted as Mattei Dogan Prize under the auspices of the Mattei Dogan Foundation. The Prize was awarded for the first time to Professor Michael Posner on the occasion of the XXIX International Congress of Psychology (Berlin, Germany) in July 2008. It is awarded every four years thereafter at the International Congress of Psychology. The Prize carries an honorarium of US $4 000. The Major Advancement in Psychological Science Prize is awarded in recognition of a contribution that represents a major advancement in psychology by a scholar or team of scholars of high international reputation. Preference may be given to scholars still active in scientific research.

Presentation of the award will be at the 32nd International Congress of Psychology (ICP) in Prague, Czech Republic, July 2020. The Prize recipient will be invited to deliver a plenary scientific lecture at the International Congress of Psychology. Funds to cover travel and accommodation related to attending the award ceremony will be provided.

The Award Jury will be appointed by the Union and will comprise distinguished scholars in the field.
